

EGeen Regional Network Access (RNA) Program

For Global CROs – Contract Access to EGeen’s Eastern European Network

EGeen operates an Eastern European clinical trial network that spans nine Eastern European countries and five western European countries. Large, multi-national, global CROs can take specific advantage of this network on a contract, per-service, per-country basis through EGeen’s unique Regional Network Access (RNA) Program. Whether it’s to support an ongoing clinical trial by means of custom rescue patient recruitment, run a custom trial with a certain patient demographic, or contract specific ancillary services, EGeen offers a variety of ways to access what you need on a contract basis.

- By Country, By Service, By Resource
- From Patient Recruitment to Clinical Trial Monitoring
- Rapid, focused Contractual Arrangement
- Single U.S.-based Point-of-Contact

Network of dedicated, skilled personnel across a host of countries provides Global CROs with the flexibility to add contract services quickly

Select, specific services can be contracted as needed, where needed, when needed

RNA Program flexibility allows Global CROs to tailor clinical trial services meet short or longer term requirements
